

Transitional Housing Project Reaches $1M Milestone!

-- Project Update --

In 2025 The Transitional Housing Fundraising Campaign reached a milestone of 1 million dollars raised. Many of the one, two and three bedroom units have now been sponsored with additional sponsorships at the Leader in Vision level of $100,000 having been secured. We are now waiting on provincial and federal funding grant approvals and hope to hear about the success of these requests early in the year. We continue to reach out to local foundations regarding a matching funds option that has been put forth by the Solcz Family Foundation.

The Transitional Housing Project entitled a "Place to Heal" will provide safe deeply affordable living space for women and their children, with wrap around services and support for up to 2 years. This option will ensure women and children a living violence free with a real chance of success in the future.

Planning and Site Plan Update

Hiatus House continues to work alongside Haerko Inc. to move the 40-unit transitional housing project forward. Workshop Architecture has completed the design, and with the support of Jackie Lassaline, an application was submitted to the City of Windsor's Committee of Adjustment for minor variances. These included adjustments to parking and yard depth, and we are pleased to share that all requested variances were approved.

The next step in the process is engaging a contractor for the build. A Non-Binding Negotiated Request for Proposal has been released to identify a primary contractor for the project. While we are shovel-ready, we remain mindful that continued fundraising is essential to fully bring this important project to life.

Build Canada Homes

BCH is building affordable housing across the country and Hiatus House has been invited to submit an application. The goal of this new agency includes increasing the supply of housing led by mission-driven organizations. We are working with our planning team to submit this application as soon as we can.

Thank you for your support in helping us reach this important milestone. While there is still meaningful work ahead, this achievement reflects the strength of our community and the shared belief in the importance of this campaign. We are deeply grateful for the generosity and encouragement that have brought us this far.

We ask for your continued support as we work toward making our transitional housing project, A Place to Heal, a reality.
